BACKGROUND

The Cloudy Bay 33 'Lioness' is a beautifully crafted timber motor sailer that blends the strength and charm of traditional boatbuilding with the style and comfort of a modern cruiser. Her graceful lines, impressive sailing capabilities and premium Awlcraft finish make her a true standout wherever she goes.

Lioness has been much loved by her current owner who took possession in 2022. She has proven her capabilities as a yacht, when crossing the Bass Strait, venturing north up the East Coast of Australia with an impressive average cruising speed of 6.5kts under sail and 8kts under motor.

Several additions and enhancements have been made to increase comfort and liveability including a swim platform, new plotter, canvas covers and internal blinds. Lioness has an immaculate service history and presents as well as the day she was launched - if not better.

With hydraulic steering, an overdrive prop, bow thruster and upgraded autopilot, she can be enjoyed equally under motor. The well maintained 55hp Yanmar engine and electrical systems are neatly housed under the saloon floor and easily accessed for servicing.

The interior layout exudes understated elegance and warmth, with thoughtful design and comfortable accommodation - ideal for extended stays.

The layout suits a couple with generous accommodation in the bow, with space for occasional guests in the saloon by lowering the dining table to form a double. In-built heating ensures cosy nights at anchor, while the well-appointed galley with ample refrigeration means gourmet dining is always an option.

The protected cockpit allows the helm's person to easily control all working lines making her well-suited to a couple or solo cruising sailor. Canvas covers and a recent coat of Awlcraft ensure that Lioness' exterior finish and brightwork are well preserved and looking great. Custom made canvas covers for guard rails and all external timber trims ensure the varnish remains impeccable.

On Deck

Under full sail this stable and very 'easy to sail' cruiser can be enjoyed from the comfort of her cockpit. With a shoal draft there is minimal wake and no drag making her move gracefully through the water. The teak lined cockpit and 'Princess' seats provide ample seating for crew with winches easily accessed from the helm.

A full-sized companionway door opens from the cockpit to the saloon. Adjacent, a large window on gas struts allows free conversation with the vessel's interior. Large saloon hatches provide 360deg visibility when at sea so guests and crew can enjoy cruising from the comfort of the lounge.

UNDER SAIL

With furling headsail and an mps in a sock there are options for cruising on all points of sail. The fully battened mainsail with 2x reefing points is fitted with roller cars to enable a smooth and effortless hoist or drop from the sail bag. Lioness sits happily on 6.5kts on a beam reach in light airs but will push well beyond this with a fresh breeze with no concerns of weather helm due to her custom made sails and hydraulic steering system.

COCKPIT LAYOUT

The steering console houses a (new) B&G plotter with AIS and bluetooth wind, remote VHF speaker, bow thruster and anchor controls (also fitted at bow). The steering wheel can be removed when at rest to aid access to and from the BBQ, swim platform or dinghy. LED strip lighting and blue underwater lights add a touch of charm at night.

Stepping into the saloon, one is greeted by a warm interior. Polished celery top pine flooring is complemented by Huon pine, rich teak and red cedar cabinetry and accents.

Soft beige Roman blinds accentuate her interior palette, creating a calm and inviting ambience, while ample storage beneath the saloon seating ensures everything has its place.

To port, an elegant dining area features a convertible table that transforms into a comfortable double berth. A large opening window on struts connects the saloon and aft cockpit, allowing effortless conversation and natural ventilation whether underway or at anchor.

ACCOMMODATION

The layout suits a couple with generous accommodation in the bow, with space for occasional guests in the saloon. Forward of the galley lies the spacious master cabin, featuring a double berth with a custom two-piece mattress and overlay for superior comfort. A midships single sea berth to port, accessed from the galley, provides an additional sleeping option.

The head lies adjacent to the galley and is fitted with internal overhead shower, macerating toilet and backlit vanity cabinets. Lewmar opening ports complete with insect screens are supplemented by 12V fans throughout.

GALLEY

Forward of the saloon, the galley is beautifully functional and thoughtfully designed with led strip lighting. It features a 4-burner Broadwater stove, s/s sink and a large fridge and freezer. Abundant cabinets offer storage, including a dedicated rubbish compartment, while three opening ports provide excellent light and ventilation.

NAVIGATION

The navigation station to starboard is thoughtfully positioned upon immediate entry from the cockpit. A 12" Garmin GPS plotter and Raymarine VHF are fitted at the chart table while the main switch panel is located midships to port next to the TV and offers an additional work space for a laptop. USB ports are fitted throughout the interior.
