BACKGROUND

The Beneteau 50 remains one of the most iconic bluewater designs of the 1990s. Drawn by Farr Yacht Design, this model set a benchmark for reliability, performance and long-distance comfort. Its very essence is easy, elegant offshore sailing — created to adapt effortlessly to the needs of those who seek both adventure and beauty. Designed for autonomy and adaptability, the Beneteau 50 balances strength, speed and space with the sophistication of a true passage-maker.

Launched in 1999, Eurybia participated in The 'ARC' Rally from Europe to South America before eventually crossing the Pacific to reach Australia which has become a familiar cruising ground.

Adored by her current owners, Eurybia has been set up for very comfortable cruising with a host of newly upgraded equipment that has been maintained to above-average standards.

Eurybia is powered by a powerful 78hp Volvo Penta with (new) Turbo and Maxprop with a meticulous service history. With 800W of solar, a 3000W inverter, shore power and an integrated Victron Cerbo GX power management system with lithium battery bank she is perfectly equipped for luxurious liveaboard life both at anchor or underway.

Eurybia is the sought-after Owner's Version, featuring three generous cabins, two heads, and a converted bow locker that provides abundant storage space for cruising essentials — including a washing machine.

Her all-weather cockpit, enclosed by wraparound clears, bimini and dodger, offers excellent protection in all conditions. The family-sized tender, fitted with chaps and powered by an 8hp outboard, is effortlessly managed from the custom davits.

Liveaboard comforts include air-conditioning, induction cooking, and watermaker, making Eurybia truly turn-key and ready to continue voyaging off-grid in luxury and confidence for life afloat.

On Deck

Eurybia's classic Farr-designed deck layout is sleek and uncluttered. Her reconditioned teak decks offer excellent grip and a timeless aesthetic. Wide unobstructed side decks, deep toe rails and solid stainless fittings allow crew to safely move about at sea.

The open transom, deep cockpit, and well-placed winches make short-handed sailing a joy. The bow area with twin rollers hosts a substantial anchoring system with handheld remote, while updated instruments, autopilot, thruster, and a pedestal-mounted chart plotter provide confidence and control at the helm.

UNDER SAIL

The in-mast furling main and large overlapping genoa can be deployed with the assistance of an electric halyard winch. All control lines lead aft to the cockpit allowing for protected and comfortable sailing in all weather conditions. Eurybia reaches comfortably between 8-9kts under full rig with a powerful but balanced motion.

COCKPIT LAYOUT

The cockpit with twin steering wheels, Lewmar winches (including electric halyard winch) and efficient deck layout make her ideal for both experienced sailors and couples seeking an easy-to-manage passage-maker.
